➤ Challenges Faced

- ❖ Inconsistent Values in the City Column like ("Saint Louis", St Louis", "SAINT LOUIS", "st louis").
- ❖ High Number of Null Values in the Gender Column.
- ❖ Presence of "Other" in the City Column.
- ❖ The Skills column contained entries in list format, making it challenging to extract and analyze the top skills efficiently.
- ❖ High Number of Null Values in Multiple Opportunity-Related Columns.

➤ Solutions Implemented

- ✓ The implementation of data standardization and normalization techniques resulted in a clean and uniform City column.
- ✓ To mitigate the impact of null values, we employed advanced imputation strategies.
- ✓ The City column contained a significant number of entries labeled as "Other," were not considered and was excluded from Insights.
- ✓ With the dedicated skills dataset, we applied normalization techniques to ensure consistency and standardization of skill entries.
- ✓ To tackle the challenge posed by multiple opportunity-related columns having a significant number of null values, we initially separated the dataset and we opted for a selective deletion approach.
